

LOCAL NEWS.

MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 21, 1895.

Rises to-morrow at 7:10; and sets 4:50. High water 5:14 a. m. and 5:27 p. m.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section showers to-day and to-night; fair Tuesday; warmer; followed by colder; southerly, shifting to westerly winds.

PERSONAL.—A letter from King George county says: "Rev. John McNabb, rector of the Episcopal church here, who has received a call to Pollock church, in Fairfax county, has in prayerful consideration the people of King George, irrespective of denominations, regret the call, and sincerely hope that Mr. McNabb will not accept it, for he is one of the most useful, energetic and deservedly popular ministers of this entire section."

The Baltimore News says: The Friday evening dance on the 18th inst. at Lehmann's Hall was largely attended, and a great many out-of-town persons were present. Among them were Miss Sallie V. Daingerfield, of Alexandria, in pale blue crepe with violet chiffon and violets; Miss Janet Harrison, of Leesburg, in pink satin brocade and pearls; Miss Herbert, of Alexandria, in white silk mull with insertions of blue ribbon under lace and Mr. Minnergerod, of Alexandria.

Mr. Clifton H. Price is ill of pneumonia at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. H. Chalkley, of Richmond. His mother is in attendance at his bedside.

Mr. Arthur B. Penn, who has been visiting his parents in this city, left last night for Pueblo, Col., where he is permanently located on the S. N. T. railroad.

Mr. Edmund Burke has secured a position with the electric railroad in Brooklyn and has gone to that city.

Mr. Lindsey Dwayne, of Halifax, is visiting Mr. R. T. Grimes.

CREW OF A SCHOONER RESCUED.—Capt. W. C. Geoghegan, of the steamer Potomac, plying between Baltimore, this city and Washington, rescued the crew of the disabled schooner Pocahontas early Saturday morning. The Pocahontas, commanded by Capt. J. W. Duncan, lost her mainmast in a heavy gale in the lower Potomac river, off Lynch's point. A heavy sea was running, and the schooner, after losing her mast, was laboring in the trough of the sea. There was danger of the foremast going out also, being entangled in the wreckage of the fallen spar. The sea was making a clean breach over the schooner's deck and her six men were in imminent danger of being swept overboard or crushed beneath the mainmast, which hung suspended by a few shreds of rigging, threatening around with the motion of the laboring vessel. The crew were trying to clear the schooner of wreckage when the steamer Potomac came to their assistance. Captain Geoghegan laid to and passed the schooner a hawser, by which she was finally towed into Yeocomico river.

A FREE FIGHT.—A free fight occurred at the Eldorado house on Saturday night between ten and eleven o'clock, during which Weingart was struck by a beer bottle thrown by one of the belligerents. The police were notified, but when they arrived everything was quiet and it was impossible to get any information. Four men were arrested, but upon being examined in the Police Court this morning nothing could be proven against them. Weingart did not appear. Warrants were issued for Weingart and two others and the case set for seven o'clock to night. An attachment had been levied upon the stock in the house by the owner of the building, and the fight seems to have been the closing act of the concern, during which, it is said, the place was looted, liquors having been taken through the front and back doors. Yesterday morning another fight occurred in this house during which one man threw a put of hot coffee on another.

POLICE COURT.—Justice Thompson presiding.—The following cases were disposed of this morning:

A woman, charged with taking property from a house on which an attachment had been issued, was dismissed.

Four young men, charged with fighting, were dismissed for want of evidence.

Frank Johnson, colored, charged with disorderly conduct at a church, was fined $5.

Wm. G. Wilson, charged with being a suspicious character, was held for action by the Washington authorities.

Alice Kitts, colored, charged with stealing a ring from a colored man named Johnson, was held for a further hearing.

Night Report.—Last night was cloudy and cool. Six prisoners and twenty-one lodgers were at the station house.

A SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER.—Between three and four o'clock this morning Officers Ferguson and Bettis saw a hard drive up to the Fayette street depot. They walked up to it and found there a young man who gave his name as Wm. S. Wilson. Upon being questioned he said he had been driven over the road from Washington in order to take the southbound train from this city. He was asked why he didn't board the train in Washington and save all that trouble, and replied that he had a right to ride over the road in a herdic if he chose. The officers, regarding him as a suspicious character, put him under arrest, and upon searching him at the station house an ice pick, $38 in money, a gold watch and a lady's chain were found on him. Later the police station was notified from Washington to hold on to the man.

ALLEGED CRUEL TREATMENT.—A young man named Richard E. George, a native of Pennsylvania, went to Washington yesterday on the steamer Wakefield and was sent to Providence Hospital in a deplorable condition. His hands and feet were frozen, his fingers black to the knuckles, and his hands cracked to the bone. He says his condition is due to the cruelty of Capt. Wagner, on whose oyster boat he had been working on the Chesapeake. He says the captain made him continue to work at the point of a pistol after his feet and hands were frozen, and when helpless put him ashore where the Wakefield found him.

DEATH OF A FORMER ALEXANDRIAN.—Miss Sallie Dallah Lockwood, daughter of the late Aquila Lockwood, for many years a leading merchant of this city, died Saturday in Atlanta, Ga. Her remains arrived here to-day and were interred in the family section of the Methodist cemetery.

THE RACE TRACK WAR.

The Alexandria Island race track matter will come up before Judge Wellford in Richmond on Wednesday, when argument will be heard to dissolve the injunction (which has been temporarily suspended) which he recently granted restraining the owners of that track from racing horses, selling pools, &c. The lawyers for the State and for the race track people have been busy ever since the injunction was granted and a strong fight will be made. The subject of winter racing, it is generally believed, will be discussed in all its various aspects, including the question whether or not the sport involves cruelty to animals. The Old Dominion officials have been convinced from the beginning that the St. Asaph people were the principal movers in the crusade against the Island track. In fact, things have taken such a turn that the war of the two jockey clubs seems to be in a fair way to be thoroughly ventilated in court on Wednesday.

A Washington paper says: On Friday Judge Norton, of Alexandria, called upon Lieut. Hollinberger, police headquarter and expressed a desire to secure the affidavits of the members of the detective force against the Alexandria Island track and Jackson City's resorts. Arrangements were made whereby Commissioner of Deeds Charles S. Bundy was to draw up the legal documents and acknowledge the signatures of the detectives. Inspector Hollinberger readily consented to the request, as it had for some time been his opinion that the existence of race tracks in Virginia so close to Washington was a positive detriment to the law and order of the city. It was arranged, accordingly, for the documents to be signed, but nothing, it appears, had been mentioned about St. Asaph's track, the only violation of law that the Virginia authorities had discovered having been the Alexandria Island track. When, therefore, the papers were presented for signatures, the police department objected to the limitation adding all the violation of the law upon the two places mentioned and ignoring the St. Asaph track, where a pool room is in operation. Inspector Hollinberger flatly informed Commissioner Bundy that he would sign no such one-sided papers, and several of the detectives interposed similar objections. The only condition upon which the much needed signatures could be secured was by including the St. Asaph track in the affidavits, so the whole matter went over until noon on Saturday, when Commissioner Bundy reappeared on the scene with new papers. The force was called in and the papers were signed by Inspector Hollinberger and Detectives Weston, Horn, Boyd, Carter, Lacy, Rhodes, Boardman, Galloway and Quinlan. After the papers had been duly signed and sworn to, Commissioner Bundy departed and Judge Norton called at Bundy's office later to get the documents. It is said that when the judge saw that St. Asaph's track had been included he expressed his dissatisfaction at the manner in which the Washington officers had executed his desires. He called upon Inspector Hollinberger and is said to have protested that he did not want St. Asaph mentioned in the affidavits. It is understood that some rather sharp words passed between the two gentlemen, in which Inspector Hollinberger stated that it was an insult to the police department to imagine that it would discriminate against one race track in favor of another. "The Metropolitan Police," said Inspector Hollinberger, "is not maintained for the purpose of assisting one crowd of Virginia gamblers to down another crowd. We consider that both race tracks and Jackson City are a menace to the public good, and the sooner they are abolished the better for the public in general." Judge Norton is said to have replied that he did not think he could use the affidavits as they had been drawn up, and putting them in his pocket, he left the headquarters. The affidavits are not the same in their wording. They are practically alike, but some of the officers go a little further than others in denouncing the tracks and say that they are a menace to law and good order.

Judge Norton, upon being shown the above said it did him great injustice, and emphatically denied the idea which has gained currency that the whole matter is a fight between the St. Asaph and the Alexandria Island tracks. The only fight in making," said Judge Norton, "is against winter racing anywhere in the State of Virginia which has brought into the Commonwealth a crowd of toughs from all over the country. Ladies have been insulted by such characters on trains between this city and Washington. I would oppose and endeavor to stop winter racing at St. Asaph, and I have so expressed myself. The Governor and Attorney General have made up their minds to stop it at Alexandria Island, no matter what it may cost." Judge Norton referred to the fact that St. Asaph track had been included in the affidavits he had obtained from the Washington authorities. He told them that that track was not in the issue, as no winter racing was conducted there, and was told that unless they could include that track in their affidavits they would not lend aid in breaking up winter racing. There had been no unpleasantness between the Judge and Lieut. Hollinberger. Judge Norton was emphatic in the assertion that he never had anything to do with any race track, nor had he ever received any compensation from any one connected with them.

COULD NOT COMPLY.—It was stated a few weeks since that a number of business men of this city had petitioned the officers of the Southern Railway Company to reduce from $50 to $40 the price of the 2000 mile ticket on that road in order to place the Alexandria traveling men on a footing with those of the northern cities. To-day a letter was received in this city from Mr. W. A. Turk, of the Southern Company, stating that the request of the Alexandria merchants could not be complied with. Mr. Turk says his company can take no independent action in the matter from the fact that it is a member of the Southern Passenger Association and of the Associated Railways of Virginia and the Carolinas. The rates for mileage tickets, he says, are made by agreement. Mr. Turk also says the mileage to and from the Potomac is the same as those of the road he represents and are not compensative. The northern roads, he says, can often afford to do this from the fact that their business is greater by reason of the large population while in the South where such is not the case, railroads could not afford to make the reduction asked for.

THE CITY DIRECTORY.—Work on the new directory is progressing in a most satisfactory manner, and it seems, from the way in which the business men are taking hold, that success is doubly assured. Orders for numerous advertisements have already been taken, besides the many subscriptions for the book, which shows our merchants are not slow to patronize a reliable directory. The managers of this directory should not be confounded with that of the last one, and if we are to have a perfect book, then we must support the effort.

The first lecture of the Reinicker course will be delivered at White Hall, Theological Seminary, by Bishop Randolph at 12 o'clock to-morrow (Tuesday). The public are cordially invited. Mr. Reinicker, of Baltimore, the promoter of the lectures, is expected to be present.
